

Invitation to the Ear Whispered Cho

Any lineage can bring you into awakening. I'm not saying this is a special lineage or that you have to be in this lineage, no. But if you have some kind of interest, some kind of spark, something in this kind of connection to this lineage, then I want you to nurture that. And I would like to be part of that, because that's who I was when I met my teacher.

Historically speaking, this was never like a big organization or in an institutional framework. It has nothing to do with those things. Everybody, all the practitioners, would leave the monastery and go off to the retreat. We have a strong intention to practice, and strong intention to serve, of course, serve others.

If we have that, then the lineage masters will support you, carry you and bring you into the ocean of awakening. So trust that.
